ABSTRACT

Atika Pebriani, 2022. “Designing Common Expressions Book in The Market”. A Thesis of The English Department Study Program of Tarbiyah and Teacher Training Faculty, State Islamic Institute of Palopo. Supervised by: (1) Dr. H. Rustan Santaria, M.Hum., and (2) Husnaini, S.Pd, I., M.Pd.

Realizing that English is an important language in the globalization era, this research aims to design an appropriate common expressions book in the market. This research answered the research questions those are (1) How to design the basic common expressions book used by the sellers in the traditional market? (2) How the product in this study can be a reference for the student at SMP IT Al-Hafizh Kota Palopo? Research and Development was used in this research through ADDIE Models. ADDIE Models has five steps: Analysis, Design, Development, Implementation and Evaluation. An Interviewed was an instrument to analyze the needs, questionnaires used for the experts' validation, and questionnaires for students' and teachers' perceptions. The final product of this research consists of five chapters: (1) Grocery Store, (2) Greengrocer, (3) Fishmonger, (4) Clothes Shop, and (5) Shoe Shop. The product of this research was implemented in the market by five sellers and in SMP IT Al-Hafizh Kota Palopo by ten students. Therefore the sellers' and the students' perception results got a mean score of 52,8, with 88% of the percentage qualified as "Very Good." It indicated that the product was capable and ready to use without revision.

CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

A. Background

In a globalized world era like today, English has been confirmed to be critical in our day-by-day lives. The fast improvement of the era additionally made it less difficult to get admission to facts across the world, and we will reap all forms of facts, be it inventory exchange, academic materials, breaking news, or entertainment. In an age in which the unfold of facts is inevitable and is going past the borders, using English is critical in the transport of information.¹

To exchange information between citizens of one country, English is a language that is very much needed as an international language. One of the information exchanges that are often carried out between citizens of the world is wanting to know the culture of each country. One of the countries that are a destination for foreign tourists to learn culture is Indonesia, the local cultural values embedded in Indonesian society are interesting for the views of other nations, so they are interested in learning about them.²

In traditional markets, we can see a social reality that can describe the identity of ethnic groups because of the existence of traditional markets. We can recognize the three forms of culture in their interactions (tangible cultural, intangible cultural, and living cultural).³ Visiting this traditional market, we can witness the daily life of the people interacting with others. How does the crystallization of these cultural values manifest from the attitude of spontaneity between the seller and buyer.⁴

From the point of view of cultural values, it is not only a question of economic problems, but in these traditional markets, we will find the identity of the nation of each region starting from the way of thinking, the way of behaving, the local community can be found here, then the process of exchanging value by interacting between sellers and buyers is an interesting part, not only limited buying and selling but there is also information exchanged about the social environment.⁵

However, when foreign tourists come to Indonesia to study Indonesian culture, there are still many obstacles faced by both parties, one of which is the problem of communication. Indonesian people are still low in speaking English compared to other countries in the ASEAN region⁶. This is reinforced when foreign tourists come to visit traditional markets in Indonesia. The researcher often finds miscommunication between tourists and sellers in a traditional market. Which means most of the sellers cannot speak English.

There are many books that feature conversations in English but only discuss everyday conversations. One of them is a book title "101 Conversation in Simple English". It is very difficult to find a book that shows the conversation between sellers and buyers in a traditional market.

In this case, the researcher takes the initiative to help the sellers in traditional markets so they can communicate well with tourists and see the reality in the field, conversation books related to activities in the market are still very difficult to find. The researcher decided to help the sellers to improve their English skills because there is a verse in the Quran that commands us to help each other. The verse explained in Q.S Al-Maidah: 2.⁷

وَتَعَاوَنُوا عَلَى الْبِرِّ وَالتَّقْوَىٰ وَلَا تَعَاوَنُوا عَلَى الْإِثْمِ وَالْعُدْوَانِ ۚ وَاتَّقُوا اللَّهَ إِنَّ اللَّهَ شَدِيدُ الْعِقَابِ

"And help you in doing good and piety, and do not help in the act of sin and enmity. Fear Allah, verily Allah is very severe in punishment."

According to the verse above, the researcher realizing that as a muslim we have to help to each other, then this motivating the researcher to apply the product in the school to show that this product can be a reference to teach English, and also can be used by all of background either in non education background or education background.

Therefore, the researcher raised the title "Designing Common Expressions Book In The Market" as research material so that this research can be useful for traders in traditional Indonesian markets.

B. Research Questions

The sellers in the traditional market most of them do not know how to express what they want to say in English. Most of the sellers feel insecure about speaking in English. Those problems guide the researcher in formulating the question

⁷ Al-Qur'an Qs Al Maidah/5:2.

1. How to design basic common expressions book used by sellers in a traditional market?
2. How is the product in this study can be a reference for the student at SMP IT Al-Hafizh Kota Palopo.

C. The Objective of The Research

Based on the problems above, the objective of this research are:

1. Finding out how to design common expressions book used by the sellers and the buyers in a traditional market.
2. Finding out whether this product, weather or not, can be a reference in teaching English.

D. The Specification of The Research

The researcher expected product in this study can be used by the sellers in market and students at SMP IT Al-Hafizh.

E. The Significances of the Research

The researcher expects to design a common expression book for the sellers in the traditional market to improve their English skills to express what they want to say to the buyers, especially for grocery stores, greengrocers, fishmongers, clothes sellers, and shoe sellers. Practically this study will be helpful for:

1. The sellers and buyers in the traditional market use this product as a reference to study English.

2. Giving a reference for the tourists to learn the Indonesia language, especially common expressions used in the market.
3. This product can be used as a reference to English for Specific Purposes.

F. Assumption and Delimitation of The Research

There were several assumptions given by the researcher in designing Common Expressions Book in The Market as follows:

1. Book designed filled out by the need analysis of the sellers.
2. The designed Basic English Speaking Module was evaluated by expert through a questionnaire.

In conducting the research, the researcher had several delimitations as follows:

1. The book was carried out for five chapters.
2. The material of each chapter contains expressions and vocabularis related to the chapter material.
3. ADDIE Models.

CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

A. Review of Related Research Findings

There are some relevant studies related to the learning material design that will be explained here. Those are Bambang Prastio dkk (2020) with the title "Question Patterns and Conversation Implicature on Traditional Market In Lampung-Indonesia."⁸ This journal showed that there were six types of question patterns found in such transactions that contained conversational implicature, namely (1) yes/no question for the asking, (2) tag question for rejecting and ordering, (3) declarative question for ordering, (4) alternative question for the asking, (5) wh-question for asking and suggesting, and (6) rhetorical question for rejecting. The difference between the journal and this study of the researcher is the researcher in the journal chose descriptive qualitative as a method. And it is different from a researcher who applies research and Development as a method in this analysis. The equation between the journal and this study is this study chooses the sellers and the buyers as a subject in the traditional market as a subject in analysis. The object of this study is the traditional market.

Hadi, Muhammad Sofiyul (2012) with the title "An Analysis of Buyers" And Seller "S Speech Acts in Daily Transactional Communication at Kebumen Traditional Market In Banyubiru."⁹ This study shows that languages used among sellers and buyers are various nonstandard Javanese and Bahasa Indonesia, which are delivered persuasively to each other to gain profit, and it is classified according to Austin, Searle, and Parker. The difference between the thesis and this study is the researcher in the thesis chooses descriptive qualitative as a method, while in this study, an analysis uses research and Development as a method. The process to get the data is applied by observation, interview, and documentation, while this research observation method is to collect data.

Agus Kusnandar (2015) with a title “Analisis Percakapan Dan Variasi Kode Bahasa Pedagang Dan Pembeli Di Pasar Tradisional Kecamatan Malajaya Kabupaten Bandung”.¹⁰ The purpose of this study is to describe the varied language codes and search the conversation of the sellers and the buyers in a transaction and the impact on the transaction. Qualitative description is the method used in this study. The results showed that both sellers and buyers used the Sundanese dialect Bandung as the primary choice language with smooth and Loma(familiar) speech levels. They used to have the prefix sa-, the suffix -na, -eun, and polite expressions like "haturnuhun" in their expressions. The gender proved that the male traders were more careful to speak with their buyers and more principled and pleased to invite many buyers to expect more transactions than having to persuade a buyer to order more goods. At the same time, the female traders used more lemes language than the male traders. Variations of answers like giving permissions, disclaimers, and questions were most frequently an expression of women sellers. Women traders principled to invite a buyer with a lot of groceries than to invite many buyers but few goods ordered.

Dita Alfianata dkk (2014) with the title “Register Jual Beli Di Pasar Tradisional Flamboyan.”¹¹ The result of this study showed that speech activity in traditional markets flamboyant. Variations of language based on the user there is a mix of Indonesian, Malay, Madurese, and Chinese. Variations based on usage language, namely the existence of buying and selling activities in flamboyant traditional markets that are carried out by the seller and the buyer in the form of spoken language. This study used the description method, while the method that will use by the researcher is the research and development method. The similarity between this study and the study that will do by the researcher is they have the same population and the same sample. The population of the study is all the sellers in a traditional market, and the population in this study are fishmongers, greengrocers, grocery stores, and butcher shops.

A journal, "Selling-and-Buying Transaction Patterns in a Traditional Market: A Generic Structure Potential Approach," written by Fahmi Reza Alfani dkk (2021).¹² This research use sellers and buyers in beef, chicken, fruit, grocery, and vegetable shops of Pasar Waru, a traditional market in Sidoarjo, Indonesia. The result of this study shows that the generic structure elements in some shops at Pasar Waru comprise: greeting (G), sale initiation (SI), sale inquiry (SE), sale

B. Literature Review

1. Common Expression

a. Definition

There are some definitions related to the definition of expression. The expression in the Big Indonesian Dictionary (KBBI) is a group of words or a combination of words that convey a specific meaning (the meaning of the elements is often blurred). In simple terms, an expression is a combination of words that produces a new meaning (figurative meaning). Combined words in the expression cannot be inserted into other words.¹⁷

An expression is a combination of two or more words that a person uses in certain situations to illustrate something. The expression is formed from the combination of two words or more. This word combination, if there is no accompanying context, has two possible meanings, namely the true meaning (denotation) and the meaning not actually (figurative meaning or connotation).

The meaning of denotation is the meaning of a word that is in accordance with its intended meaning, actual or according to the meaning of the dictionary.

Example:

Brother eats rice.

¹⁷Utang Ranuwijaya, Ungkapan-Ungkapan Yang Dianggap Sabda Nabi Saw, 2017

(To eat means to put something in the mouth).

My sister drinks milk every morning to be healthy.

(The denotative meaning is said Drink).

The price of scapegoats is very expensive.

(The denotative meaning is a goat that is black).

Connotation meaning is meaning that is not real and refers to another thing. The connotative meaning is figurative meaning.

Example:

In that incident, he was made a scapegoat.

(scapegoat means people to blame).

The boy left big when his father went to Japan.

(depart means move or begin to become).

The village flower has become a bank employee.

(village flower means something that is considered beautiful)¹⁸

An expression is a form of language that is a combination of words that states a special meaning (the meaning of the elements that make it up already merge and cannot be interpreted/become blurred). The expression is also called idiom.¹⁹

Expressions can be formed by elements of words and phrases.²⁰

1) Say

¹⁸Utang Ranuwijaya, Ungkapan-Ungkapan Yang Dianggap Sabda Nabi Saw, 2017

¹⁹Tri Handayani, Tinjauan Semantik Ungkapan Pada Bungkus Permen Kis Mint Barley, 2010

²⁰Tri Handayani, Tinjauan Semantik Ungkapan Pada Bungkus Permen Kis Mint Barley, 2010

Kridalaksana (2001: 98) defines a word as a language unit that can stand alone and occurs from a single morpheme. For example, stone home, come, and so on.

2) Phrase

Phrases are grammatical units consisting of two or more words that do not exceed the limit of a function (Ramlan, 1981: 121). A phrase is a grammatical unit in the form of a combination of words with words that is non-predicative (Kridalaksana, 1988: 81). For example, in harmony with, talk about, benefit, divide, slam bones, draw hearts, stubbornness, and bathe in blood.

b. Kinds of Expressions

Based on the meaning that arises from its constituent elements, expressions are divided into two types, namely full expressions (full idioms) and partial expressions (partial idioms).²¹

- 1) Full idiom (full idiom) is an expression/idiom that its constituent elements have lost their lexical meaning.
- 2) A partial idiom (partial idiom) is an expression/idiom. One of the constituent elements still has lexical meaning. Based on the disclosure of the content and meaning that appears addressed to the interlocutor, the form of expression is divided into proverbs, memes, and figured of speech.

²¹Tri Handayani, "Tinjauan Semantik Ungkapan Pada Bungkus PermenKis Mint Barley", 2010

2. Market

a. Definition

The market is the meeting point of two producers and consumers. Trade in goods and services based on the price bet.²² A traditional market is a market that, in its implementation, is still traditional, where sellers and buyers interact directly.²³

From the definition above, we got the conclusion that a market is a place where sellers and buyers meet, and there are goods that are traded.

b. Market Type

Market-based on the way the transaction is divided into two they are:

- 1) Traditional markets are markets that are well-established and managed by the government, local governments, Cooperation with the private sector, and private SOEs with places of business in the form of shops, kiosks, booths, and tents owned/managed by small, medium, and, independent community traders or in partnership with small-scale businesses, small capital, with the process of Buying and selling goods through bargaining offers
- 2) Modern markets are markets or shops with self-service systems, retail sales of various goods in the form of mini markets and supermarkets, department stores, hypermarkets, or Wholesale in wholesale form.

C. Instructional Design Models

There are several instructional models that are often used. Those are Borg and Gall, 4-D models, and ADDIE model.

1. Borg and Gall

The R&D Method by Borg & Gall has been applied and implemented widely in educational research. It is a model design for educational practices at all levels of education. The fact that its ten steps are every so often simplified or modified by educational researchers in their studies also develops other alternative model designs.²⁴

There are ten steps that are applied in Borg and Gall method, and those steps are divided into three steps. Among those steps are:

a) Research and Information Collection

The research is started by studying the related literature, need analysis, and framework preparation.

b) Planning

It includes formulating skills and expertise regarding the problem of the research, formulating objectives of each stage, and designing research steps and necessary feasibility study.

c) Developing a Preliminary Form of Product

²⁴ Sri Gustiani, "Research And Development (R&D) Method As A Model Design In Educational Research And Its Alternatives"

In this step, the preliminary educational product, some named 'trial product,' is developed by preparing and evaluating the supporting components and also its guidelines and manuals.

d) Preliminary Field

Testing The preliminary product is tested on a limited scale to some selected parties (3-4) through the interview, questionnaire, or observation to gain and analyze the data for the next step.

e) Revising Main Product

The preliminary/trial product is revised using the data gained in step four. The revision is likely to be done more than once, depending on the results of the trial product. The revision is ready for wilder testing.

f) Main Field Testing

This step is also called the main testing, in which the revised educational product is tested on the wilder scale by many parties (5-15). The data are commonly collected by a qualitative method. Some products need to be carried out in an experimental research design to get precise feedback/data for the next step.

g) Revising Operational Product

The revised product in this step is revised again based on the gained data in step six. The product is then developed as an operational model design to be validated.

h) Operational Field Testing

The validation of the operational model is conducted with massive parties (30-40) through interviews, observation, or questionnaires. The data are the bases for revising the product in the final step. It is intended to ensure whether the model is completely set for using in educational fields without the researchers as the counselors.

i) Revising Final Product

The product is completely revised by the gained data in step eight and launched as the final educational product.

j) Disseminating and Implementing

Product dissemination is conducted to the public, especially in the education field, through seminars, publications, or presentations to related stakeholders.

2. 4D- Models

According to the name, this instructional model has four steps. The four-door (4D) is a simple design model²⁵. Four steps in this model are: Defining – conducting the learner's need analysis, Designing – producing a product according to the learner's need analysis, Developing – developing a product by the validators, among them are judgments and users, Dissemination – published product.

3. ADDIE Model

²⁵ Sagita, Sahraini, and Syam, “Designing English Syllabus for Islamic Education Study Program at IAIN Palopo,” 29.

ADDIE Model takes up the input, process, and output paradigm as a way to complete its phases.²⁶ There are five steps in this model, among them comprised:

- a. Analysis (Identify the probable causes for the performance gap)
- b. Design (Verify the desired performances and appropriate testing methods)
- c. Development (Generate and validate the learning resources),
- d. Implementation (Prepare the learning environment and engage the students),
- e. Evaluation (Assess the quality of the instructional products and processes, both before and after implementation).

According to several instructional models explained above, the researcher chose ADDIE Model as a research model because ADDIE Model is clearer and more complete.

D. Conceptual Framework

In a traditional market, knowing the expression between the sellers and the buyer's communication is the most important thing.

Between the sellers and the buyers, they will use an expression to make a bargaining process, and also, the traders use an expression to offer their product to the buyers.

²⁶ Robert Maribe Branch, Instructional Design: The ADDIE Approach, Teaching High School Physics (New York: Springer, 2009), 3, <https://doi.org/10.1007/978-0-387-09506-6>.

Communication is the way to expedite an express between the sellers and the buyers about what they need from each other.

The use of book common expressions in the market will help them to improve their expression of what they need in English. A common expression book will arrange and developed to help the sellers and the buyers make their English skills better than before; at least the sellers and the buyers know the vocabulary of a verb, adjectives, or nouns related to the market.

1. Observation target

The researcher will observe the common expressions used by the sellers and the buyers at Pusat Niaga Kota Palopo.

2. Information Collecting

The first step that will be passed by the researcher is research and information collecting. At this stage, the researcher must define the problem and determine potential solutions during this process. The results of this step will be designed as a product.

3. Addie Model

In designing this common expression book, the researcher will use ADDIE Model, in which the steps are: analysis, design, Development, implementation, and evaluation.

4. Product

In this research, the researcher will design a common expression book in the market as a result.

CHAPTER III

METHODOLOGY OF RESEARCH

This chapter will discuss the methodology used in this study. It describes the research design, the research subject, the research location, the research instrument, the data collection, the analysis methods, and the research procedure.

A. Research Design

The researcher choose Research and Development as a method model for this study. Research and Development is a process used to develop and validate an educational product²⁷. The researcher used to research and development design in this study because Research and Development will produce a product that will help sellers in the market to improve their English skills. The researcher uses three steps those are research and collecting information, development process, and validating.

In this research, the researcher designs a book containing the expressions of the sellers and the buyers in the market. ADDIE Model choose as a design model in this research.

B. The subject of this research

There are two subjects in this study those are:

1. The sellers and the buyers in the traditional market "Pusat Niaga Kota Palopo" were the subjects of this research. Consists of sellers and buyers in grocery stores, greengrocers, fishmongers, clothes shops, and shoe shops.
2. The Students at SMP IT Al-Hafizh Kota Palopo.

²⁷ Borg and Gall, Education Research: An Introduction

C. Location of the Research

In this study the researcher the researcher choose two places as the location, those locations are:

1. The researcher chooses the traditional market "Pusat Niaga Kota Palopo" as the location of this research. Especially in grocery stores, greengrocers, fishmongers, clothes shops, and shoe shops.
2. SMP IT Al-Hafizh Kota Palopo

D. Research Procedure

The procedure of this research researcher decided to apply the ADDIE model to design a product in this research, "Common Expression Book in Market." ADDIE model stands in five for five phases: Analysis, Design, Development, Implementation, and Evaluation.²⁸

1. Analyze

In this research, the researcher comes to the traditional market to observe the expressions of the sellers and the buyers over there by observing. Therefore, an interview will be used in this step to know what kinds of the book that they needed.

2. Design

The design phase will go through several stages those are 1) the researcher preparing some references and 2) the researcher outlining the design of the product.

²⁸Enhana Tarbiatunnisa, Developing Basic English Speaking Module For The English Club Program At Senior High School Of Modern Islamic Boarding School Datok Sulaiman PutriPalopo, 2021.

3. Development

In this step, the researcher focused on developing an expression book. The process to develop an expression book through some stages those are 1) collecting an expression, 2) arranging an expression book, 3) Validate by experts those are Dr. Masruddin, S.S., M.Hum, St. Hartina, S.Pd., M.Pd, and Fadhliyah Muin, S.Pd.I., M.Pd through a questionnaire.

4. Implementation

In this phase, the researcher will choose some sellers in the traditional market to use the product, and SMP IT Al-Hafizh will become a place to implement.

5. Evaluation

In this phase, the researcher collects an opinion from the sellers by using questionnaires.

E. Data Collection Technique

The researcher used an interview technique and a questionnaire to collect the data.

1. Interview

The researchers interviewed the sellers in the traditional market to know the usual difficulties encountered when meeting tourists who want to buy their products.

2. Questionnaire

The researcher gave the sellers a questionnaire to know their ability of sellers in English.

F. Data Analysis Technique

Interviews and questionnaires will be used in this study as the data analysis technique.

1. Interview Data Analysis

In the analysis of the data by interview, the researcher applied the qualitative method.

2. Data Analysis of Experts' Validation and Sellers' Perception

Sugiono (2013) proposed data analysis; data analysis was described below²⁹:

The number of answer very good = $VG \times 5 = \dots$

The number of answers good = $G \times 4 = \dots$

The number of answers fairly = $F \times 3 = \dots$

The number of answer poor = $P \times 2 = \dots$

The number of answer very poor = $VP \times 1 = \dots$

Total score = \dots

After calculating the total score, the researcher will calculate the average score by using the formula below:

²⁹ Dr Sugiyono, Metode penelitian pendidikan pendekatan kuantitatif, kualitatif dan R&D. (2013).

$$M = \frac{B}{N}$$

M = Mean score

B = Total scores

N = Total number of material

After calculating the mean score, the researcher will calculate the value by following the formula below:

$$X = \frac{M}{N} \times 100\%$$

X = The value

M = Average score

N = Total number of material

Score	Percentage	Qualification	Categories
4,2 – 5,0	84% - 100%	Very Good	It can be utilized without revision
3,4 – 4,1	68% - 82%	Good	It can be utilized with a little bit of revision
2,6 – 3,3	52% - 66%	Fairly	It can be utilized with much revision
1,8 – 2,5	36% - 50%	Poor	It cannot be utilized
1,0 – 1,7	20% - 34%	Very Poor	It cannot be utilized and need much more revision

BAB IV

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSIONS

The researcher discusses the findings and discussions about the research process. This chapter contains two chapters, which are findings and discussions process of designing common expressions book in the market.

A. Research Findings

1. Need Analysis

a. The result of The Interview

The researcher interviewed some sellers in the traditional market to get information; those questions are: (1) Do you think that English is important in this era? (2) Do you interest in a book that talks about common expressions related to the traditional market? (3) What do you need in the book?

From the questions above, there were some answers from the sellers, which the answers took from each seller as the representative.

1.) Grocery Store

"Yes, as we can see in this era, English is important."

"Yes, I think that's unique."

"Honestly, I don't really understand a book, but I am interested in a book with a color."

2.) Green Grocer

"Yes, I see; in this era, English is always used anywhere."

"Maybe as a seller in the traditional market, we need that book because sometimes we meet with a tourist and we want to talk with them."

"I need that book with a translation in our language."

3.) Fishmonger

"Of course, English is an important language."

"Maybe, we need that, and maybe we need the book to improve our English skills."

"I need that book to have a color."

4.) Clothes Seller

"Honestly, I don't understand that, but we can see that everywhere. Many people talk in English."

"Yes, because even though we are only sellers in the market, there is nothing wrong if we can also speak English."

"I choose the book that I understand the content of the conversation, and of course, there is a translation in Indonesian."

5.) Shoes Seller

"Yes, English is important."

"To be honest, we don't really need it, but it does not matter to study the conversation in the market in English."

"I just need a translation from English to Indonesian."

The result of the interview by the researcher and the seller in the market above is the seller thought that English is an important language and most sellers in the market are interested in a book that contains a conversation in a market in English. From the question that gave by the researcher to the seller above, the researcher concluded that the sellers in the market commonly need a book of the expression that can help them to sell their things. They also need the common expression book with a translation in Indonesia so they can be easy to use that book. The design they need is colorful with pictures.

2. Design

a. Designing goals

Common expressions book designed for the sellers in the market.

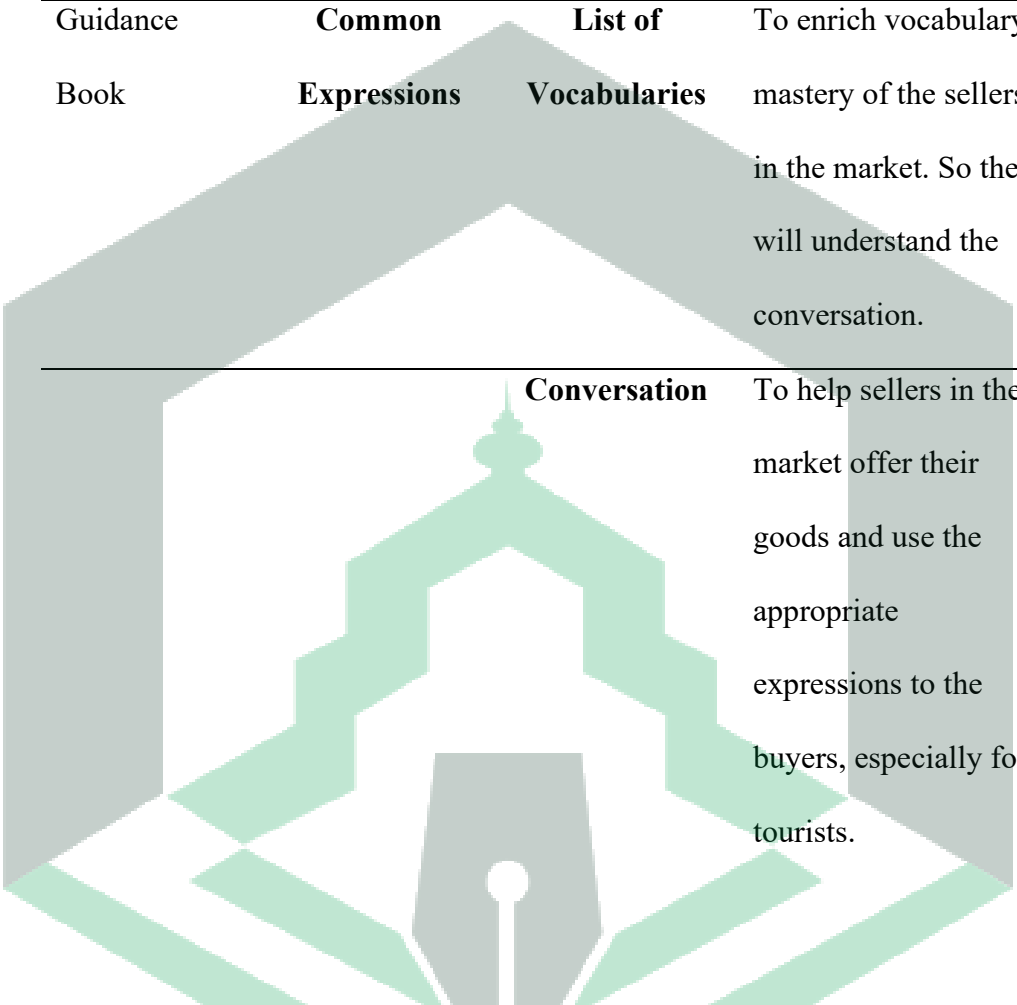

According to the need analysis and the researcher's observation above, the researcher formulated the goals:

"The sellers in the market will be able to express their thought in English."

b. Designing Objective

The researcher arranged the content of the product based on the need analysis and the researcher's observation. The product will contain five chapters, and each chapter talks about the vocabulary and conversation in each store. Those stores are grocery stores, greengrocers, fishmongers, clothes shops, and shoe shops. The description of the product can be seen in the table below.

Aspect	Dimension	Element in product	Objective
Guidance	Common	List of	To enrich vocabulary
Book	Expressions	Vocabularies	mastery of the sellers in the market. So they will understand the conversation.
		Conversation	To help sellers in the market offer their goods and use the appropriate expressions to the buyers, especially for tourists.

Table 4.1 Designing Objective

3. Development

The content of the product is arranged based on the conversation between sellers and buyers in each store. The content of the product is divided into five chapters; in each chapter, there is a vocabulary related to the store. Those chapters are grocery stores, greengrocers, fishmongers, clothes shops, and shoes shop.

a. Vocabularies

The content of each chapter in the product contains vocabulary related to each store. The vocabulary of each store consists of five to ten vocabularies.

b. Conversation

1) Grocery store

There are several things that buyers always looked in the market. The conversation between the seller and buyer market that related to the store

a) Buying the toothpaste

Subject	Conversation
Buyer:	Do you sale pepsodent toothpaste?
Seller:	Of course. How many pieces pepsodent toothpaste do you want?
Buyer:	Give me one-pieces. How much it costs?

	All of them are seventy-five thousand rupiahs.

Table 4.4 Conversation between Seller and Buyer in Grocery Store

The table above explains the conversation between a seller and a buyer that want to buy cooking oil, ketchup, and shampoo. The discussion starts with the buyer saying, "I am looking for cooking oil. Do you sell it?"

The buyer points to the thing they want to buy, and the seller replies to the buyer by saying, "Yes, I do. How many do you need?" After that, the buyer pointed out other things they wanted to buy, and then they talked about the price.

2) Green Grocer

The expressions between sellers and buyers related to green grocers are described in the table below:

Subject	Conversation
Buyer:	How much does this carrot cost one kilo?
Seller:	Fifteen thousand rupiahs.
Buyer:	Give me one kilogram and give me the fresh.
Seller:	Any else?
Buyer:	Do you sell cabbage?
Seller:	Of course, this one.
Buyer	Oh, I did not see it. I am looking for the small one, how many kilograms is this?
Seller	Its three ounces, five thousand rupiahs
Buyer	Ok, give your beans three thousand rupiahs.
	How much is my total shopping?
Seller	It twenty-three thousand rupiahs. Would you like to fulfill twenty-five thousand rupiahs?

Buyer	Ok, give me this water spinach, and this is your money.
Seller	Thank you very much.

Table 4.5 Conversation between Seller and Buyer in Green Grocer tourism.³¹ Regarding cultural issues, Indonesia is famous for its diverse culture, and this is what attracts tourists to come to Indonesia³². Traditional markets are one of the places that become a destination for tourists to visit. By visiting the traditional market, they will find the culture related to the habits of people in Indonesia in the market.³³

When visiting a traditional market, of course, the tourist and the seller will carry out a communication process where we know that language is needed for communication. However, one of the things that hinder communication between the two is the lack of knowledge of sellers in the market about English, and the researcher realizes that it is rather difficult to find English conversation books related to activities in traditional markets. This is the motivation of researchers to make a book that contains conversations between sellers and buyers in traditional markets.

The ADDIE model is the design model in this study, in which there are five steps in it, namely Analysis, Design, Development, Implement, and Evaluate. Need analysis that was used in this research was interviewed. The result of the need analysis, the researcher concluded book that need by the sellers is the book has a translation and colorful with a picture.

There were three validators on this product. They are language expert, material expert, and design and layout expert. The result of the language validator got a mean score of 4,8 with 96 % of percentages and qualified "Very Good." Furthermore, the result from the material expert got a mean score of 4,2 and 82% of percentages which qualified "It can be utilized with a little bit of revision. Meanwhile, the result of the design and layout expert got a mean score of 4,5 and 90%of percentages. It means that qualified the language expert validation result the product utilized without revision.

The researcher also distributed questionnaires to the sellers, students, and teacher to conduct their perceptions about the product. The result of sellers' perception got a mean score of 4,4, and the percentage got 88%. The product in this research qualified as "Very Good." Furthermore, students' perceptions got a mean score of 4,4, with an 88% percentage. It indicated the product "Very Good," which can be utilized without revision. Teacher's perception of this product got a mean score 4,8 with 96% percentage. It means that the product qualified as "Very Good."

Several previous studies that have been done before supported this research, such as Nur Aisyah with the title Developing Daily Expression Pocketbook For Islamic Boarding School Students At Muhammadiyah Boarding School Putra Palopo, (2021).³⁴ Based on the result of validation and the tryout, it can be concluded that the product is worthy of use. Another previous study is Lestari et al with the title "Developing English Speaking Material Through CBI
